The Australian and New Zealand Sports Law Association (ANZSLA) today announced that at the ANZSLA AGM held during its annual Conference; 'Sport-Risky Business?' at the Gold Coast on 1 November, Ian Hunt was unanimously elected as the Association's President, taking over from Simon Rofe who has been President of ANZSLA for the past 5 years.

Ian Hunt said; "This is a significant event for ANZSLA as it marks the first time that a New Zealander has been elected as President of ANZSLA".

He added; "ANZSLA's mission is to provide education, advocacy and networking opportunities on legal issues in sport to the Australian and New Zealand sporting industries. I am looking forward to the challenge of working with the ANZSLA Board in achieving those goals, and taking ANZSLA to the next level in Australia and New Zealand."

Richard Redman from the Australian Sports Drug Anti Doping Agency (ASADA) was also elected to the role of Secretary at the annual general meeting.
